

III. COMPUTER AND INTERNET USE POLICY

South Burlington Public Library supports the American Library Association's Library Bill of Rights <http://www.ala.org/advocacy/node/35>.

The South Burlington Public Library is committed to the privacy of its patrons. Data and browser history is never saved between users. The Library never keeps personal data regarding search histories in the online library resources.

However, while in use, computers store temporary and permanent data, which could be visible to patrons passing behind. Screen privacy is not assured.

Librarians are unable to apply the same selection criteria to the Internet as with other Library materials, and therefore the Library is not responsible for the content or accuracy of information on the Internet.

Illegal activities on the computer include:

- Violation of applicable state and federal laws governing information access,
- Infringement of US copyright laws and licensing agreements,
- Violation of state and federal laws on the sexual exploitation of children.

Infringement of state and federal laws will result in suspension or termination of user's computer privileges. Patron may be subject to prosecution by local, state, or federal authorities.
